EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:

A CONSTRUCTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which it is perhaps liable, though by no means intended, (as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks,) that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am," "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and, shall be compelled to," &c.

The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.

EPHRAIM FLINT, Secretary of State.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Despatches to the Evening Times.

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.

An immense meeting of the Democracy was held here to-night, which ratified the nominations of the State Committee.

Resolutions were adopted deprecating the motives of the convention of 1864; that it is the duty of the law officers of the State to take such steps as the occasion may demands to save Louisiana from anarchy which threatens her because of the reckless misconduct of unworthy citizens and pretended patriots; that Louisiana pledges herself to an honest support of President Johnson's policy, and fully endorsing the Philadelphia Convention.

The speakers were very severe on the radicals.

Secession was denounced, and the emancipation of slaves fully accepted.

NEW YORK, July 25.

The cholera has somewhat abated. Only four cases were officially reported in the city yesterday, and six in Brooklyn. On the Island it was no less severe. Three deaths occurred, and a large number of troops are sick with diarrhœa.

Gen. Sherman was enthusiastically received at Montreal yesterday. He made a short and characteristic speech to the military and committee of citizens.

WASHINGTON, July 25.

It was with much difficulty that a quorum could be procured in the House to-day. 95 members being necessary for that purpose. Both Houses are now rapidly despatching business, with the view of closing up this week.

MONTPELIER, Vt., July 24.

The Democratic State Convention met at Burlington to-day.

Hon. T. P. Redfield, Hon. Henry Keyes, E. D. Phillips, Esq., and Hon. Giles Hartington were appointed delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, with alternates.

A resolution was adopted requesting districts to appoint district delegates, and conventions have been called for that purpose.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 23.

The U. S. steam tug Geneva returned yesterday from the scene of the disturbance on the eastern shore of Virginia, near Drummondtown, between the inhabitants and the negroes. It appears that the trouble originated in a band of white men hunting down some negroes for the purpose of searching for one named Church, who a few days previous had attempted to cut the throat of a white man.

The negroes were robbed of their arms and money when the made complaint to the civil authorities, who issued warrants for the arrest of 11 of the white men. The 14th inst. was set apart for the hearing of case at a village named Woodstock. On that day about 100 well armed white men assembled, swearing that they would kill every negro that attempted to testify, and threatened the magistrate, Mr Dix, with violence if the proceedings were continued. The magistrate seeing the state of affairs endorsed upon the warrants the impossibility of conducting the trial under such circumstances, and informed Major French of the Freedmen's Bureau of such action.

The latter advised the negroes to quietly return to their homes, and while they were doing so they were assaulted and pursued by the armed whites until they reached a place of safety. Upon the arrival of the troops the whites dispersed in every direction, and not one of them could be found after a rigid search.

The Battle of Sadowa.

The following account of the great battle of Sadowa, as seen on the Austrian side, is given in the London Times. The author is probably William H. Russell. His sketch was written at several points during the Austrian retreat, and we give a portion of it descriptive of events after the triumph of the Prussians became evident:

THE AUSTRIANS IN DISORDER.

"The Austrian right and reserves become more unsteady, but their artillery contests every foot of ground. Suddenly a spattering of musketry breaks out of the trees and houses of Klum right down on the Austrian gunners, and on the column of infantry drawn up the slopes below. The gunners fall on all sides—their horses are disabled—the fire increases in its intensity—the Prussians on the ridge press on over the plateau; here is an awful catastrophe—two columns of Austrians are led against the village, but they cannot stand the fire, and after three attempts to carry it, retreat, leaving the hill side covered with the fallen. It is a terrible moment. The Prussians see the advantage; they here get into the very centre of the position. In vain the staff officers fly to the reserves and hasten to get back some of the artillery from the front. The dark blue regiments multiply on all sides and from their edges roll perpetually sparkling musketry. Their guns hurry up, and from the slope take both the Austrians on the extreme right and the reserves in flank. They spread away to the woods near the Prague road and fire into the rear of the Austrian gunners.

A WEDGE FORCED INTO THE AUSTRIAN ARMY.

Thus a wedge, growing broader and driven in more deeply every instant, was forced into the very body of the Austrian army, separating it at the heart and dividing its left and centre from the right. The troops in the centre and left are dismayed at hearing the enemy's guns in their rear, and are soon exposed to the fire which most of all destroys the morale of soldiers already shaken by surprise. The right, previously broken up and discomfitted, hurry toward the Prague road in something like confusion and spread alarm among the reserves of the centre and left. The regular lines of the columns below are gradually bulging out and are at last a disordered multitude. Officers gallop about trying to restore order. Some regiments hold together, though they are losing men in heaps every instant. The left wing is arrested in its onward progress. The Prussian generals in front of them and on the centre, seeing their enemy waver, throw their battalions against them and encourage their artillery to fresh efforts, but the formidable Austrian cavalry prevents any hasty or enthusiastic demonstrations on the part of the Prussian right, whom long-continued fighting and heavy losses must have somewhat enervated.

A LAST HOPE.

Even yet there was hope for the Austrians! There on the Prussian front wheeled a force of horse with which a Murat, or a Kellerman, or a Seidlitz could have won a battle and saved an empire. There, still unshaken, were at least 50,000 men, of whom scarcely one had ever fired a shot. The indomitable Austrian artillery still turned hundreds of muzzles on the enemy's guns, and girt their men in a band of fire. To let slip that cavalry on both sides of Klum, to crash through infantry and guns, seemed really worth doing, though failure would have made the difference between defeat and a rout. It would have been a supreme deed fit for such a force to accomplish or to perish in attempting. And there were no natural obstacles visible from the tower to a grand charge.—The Prussian right separated from its centre and left, would have been rolled down into the valley among the Austrians and utterly crushed, and the Austrian centre and left have been liberated to continue their conwith the enemy. Moments were precious.

"The Prussian fire became more severe, the wavering of the Austrians greater. The falling of trees on the Prague road, the rush of fugitives, the near approach of the Prussian shells to the place, some of them bursting over the railway station, were awful warnings of the state of the battle. All the roads were blocked up with retreating trains and wagons. Men were throwing away their arms and wading through the inundations. The Austrian gunners on the causeway began to catch a sight of the Prussians near at hand in the woods, and opened on them with shrapnel and shell. It was now somewhere about 2½ o'clock, but it was not possible to note time when such things were going on so near. Scarce could the glass be directed to one point, ere an exclamation from a bystanding officer or an awful clamor carried it to another. Seconds were of inestimable value—not only that hundreds were falling, but they were falling in vain—that all the issues for which an empire had summoned its might and the Kaiser his people to the field were being decided, and that the toils of generations of emperors, warriors and statesmen were about being lost forever.—The genius of the Prussian was in the ascendant.

WASHINGTON, July 24.

The President, it appears, concludes to so far waive his objections to the Tennessee bill as to give it his approval. Not knowing how to add a sensible thing in a graceful manner, he must needs accompany his signature with a petulant and ill-natured row at Congress. The message reached the House at three o'clock, and was at once read. It created considerable amusement on both sides of the chamber, and there was a general guffaw at the passage in which the Executive says his approval is not to be construed as an acknowledgement of the right of Congress to pass laws preliminary to the admission of representatives from any of the States. As soon as the reading of the message was concluded, Mr Stevens moved to refer the credentials of the members elect to the committee on elections. Le Blond and others raised the point of order, and the members should be at once admitted; but this was overruled, and the credentials were referred by a vote of 89 yeas to 28 nays. Raymond voting in the affirmative, and Jencks, alone of the republicans, with all the democrats voting in the negative. This committee is one of those authorized to sit during the sessions of the House, and Mr. Dawes, its chairman, at once summoned his associates to their room. In half an hour they returned with a written report setting forth that they had examined the credentials, found them in due form and properly certified. They concluded by recommending that the members be at once allowed to to take the oath of office. The report was adopted, but not till Le Blond had been allowed to deliver himself of a so called smart speech.

There was slight applause at the announcement, which broke out into a most hearty and electric demonstration when Maynard and Stokes, and Taylor, the only members present, walked down the aisles to the space at the left of the Speaker's chair. There was profound silence while the Speaker read the two oaths, but the applause was vigorously renewed when, after they had signified their acceptance of the oath, he stepped down and shook hands with each.

Messrs. Maynard and Stokes took seats on the Union side of the chamber, and at once became the centre of a large crowd of congratulating friends. Mr. Taylor took Rosseau's bid sent.—[Sp. to Boston Adv.

OFFICIAL ROBBERY. An interesting case, illustrating the corruptness of city officials, has just come to light in Brooklyn.—A contractor deposes under oath, that about a year ago he made an agreement with a member of the old Board of Health, of Brooklyn, to the effect that he was to pay the said official five thousand dollars in consideration of a valuable contract for the removal of night-soil, which contract the official was to procure by engineering an ordinance, to that effect, through the Common Council. The money was paid and the ordinance was passed, but the Mayor vetoed it. The aforesaid official thereupon returned four thousand dollars to the contractor, keeping the balance for "services rendered." Afterward the Common Council passed the ordinance over the veto, and the honest member of the Health Board then claimed the balance of his five thousand dollar fee. This the contractor refused to pay, and in revenge it seems that the official then used his power as a member of the Board of Health to cripple the contractor in his work, which action has led to the disposition in question. The case is not remarkable, for similar rascalities are constantly perpetrated by officials in this city. Long practice has made our official black-mailers so expert in operations of this kind, however, that they usually evade direct exposure. The Brooklyn case, therefore, is only noticeable as an example of the way in which official swindlers operate.—[N. Y. Sun.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE. We have at last authentic intelligence of the beginning of the work of paying out the Atlantic cable of 1866. The date of the event was the 18th inst. On the afternoon of the next day—the last we hear of the enterprise—150 miles had been laid, and everything was going on perfectly. Calling this one fair day's work, it would indicate twelve days as the time required to reach Newfoundland which would be up to-morrow, Wednesday. But it would be better to allow Friday or Saturday as the date for expecting the arrival of the fleet, although, owing to the present want of telegraphic communication between Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, we may not receive the intelligence this week. The telegraph company concerned, supposing the Great Eastern began her undertaking one day before she did, fixed upon Friday next as the day of her arrival, which now, of course, comes Friday. So far the weather has been very favorable for the great enterprise, and the hopes of the public, though not very sanguine, naturally rise till the result transpires.—[Boston Journal.

FIRE. There is on Bartlett's wharf a large quantity of Nova Scotia coal which has been on fire for the last two weeks or more from spontaneous causes, greatly to the danger of persons owning property in its immediate vicinity, and to the annoyance of the members of the fire department, who have several times been called to play upon it.

There should be some stringent measures taken to prevent coal from mines known to be spontaneously combustible being landed within the limits of the city, and persons bringing such material here should be subject to severe penalties.—[Boston Journal.

THE PANIC IN VIENNA. A letter from Vienna of July 4th says:

The scenes of indignation and sorrow lately seen here were renewed last evening when the news of the great defeat of the Austrian army spread through the city.—Grave men might be seen weeping bitterly, and the consternation was profound, altho the bulk of the population of Vienna were not yet aware of the fatal extent of the news.

A letter from Vienna of the 5th, in the Paris Debats, says:

This city was four and twenty hours in a state of stupor; people could with difficulty realize that the Prussians were within three days of the place, and that the road to the capital was entirely open to the triumphant army. Yesterday I saw the Emperor pass, pale and shrinking into the corner of his carriage as if overwhelmed with grief; he was going to the hospitals. This is his first occupation of each day since the commencement of this terrible war. At four in the evening, when the last telegram arrived, it seemed as if the entire city had received the same electric shock.

Then, with reflection a reaction set in, and nothing else was discussed than the means to be adopted to continue the war against Prussia. "Let us abandon Venetia to the Italians," was the cry; "and let us recall our Southern army to the help of that of the North." A little more, and I believe the population would have cried, "Long live Italy with Venice!" Men are at work night and day to fortify Vienna on the side of Floridorf, where the roads meet by which the Prussians will come.

LADIES' HATS. If one can judge from the great variety of hats worn by the ladies, the inventive genius of French milliners should have exhausted itself some months since; but a late Paris paper announces that within the preceding fifteen days sixty-seven new styles of hats for ladies were patented in that gay city. We are not informed of the peculiarities of the sixty-seven hats, and we must wait their arrival in this country. Haven't we inventive genius enough in this country to produce a hat which shall be adapted to our climate, for must our ladies continue to pay allegiance to Paris inventors who never take into account the neuralgic east winds of this hemisphere.—[Boston Journal.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for August is an interesting and valuable number. The following is the table of contents: How my new Acquaintances Spin; What did she see With; The Miners; Physical History of the Valley of the Amazons, II; A Maniac's Confession; The Great Doctor, II; My Farm: a Fable; Passages from Hawthorne's Note Books, VIII; The Chimney Corner for 1866, VIII; Griffith Gaunt, or Jealousy, IX; London Forty Years Ago; A Year in Montana; Reviews and Literary Notices.

THE LADY'S FRIEND for August is also received as above with engravings, fashion plates, patterns, literary miscellany, receipts, &c. Among the contributors are Clara Augusta, Ettie V. Slade, Mrs. Margaret Hosmer, Mrs. Oliphant, and other popular writers. Edited by Mrs. Henry Peterson, and published by Deacon & Peterson, Philadelphia, at $2.50 a year.

EVERY SATURDAY, No. 30, for July 28. Contents:—Silcote of Silcote, by Henry Kingsley—Chapters 1-4 IV; Italy in the Lease; The Arrest; The Miantonomoh in England; Inch by Inch; Lotta Schmidt, by Anthony Trollope; Mrs. Garrick; Foreign Notes; The Fight on Rhu-Carn; Translation from Lope de Vega. Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston.

FATAL ACCIDENT. The Lowell Courier says that about five o'clock on Monday afternoon Marcellus C. Crane, belonging in Fayette, Me., and employed in Brooks' planing mill, was, with another man, endeavoring to adjust a belt, while the machinery was in motion; and while trying with the aid of a rope to pull the belt into its proper place, he was drawn up by it to the shafting, with which he became entangled. He was carried around with the shaft with great velocity, and his right arm was wrenched completely off at the elbow and broken between the elbow and shoulder.—His right leg was also broken above the knee, and an ugly wound was inflicted on the right side of his face and temple. The machinery was stopped as soon as possible, and he was extricated. The case was of such a nature as to render surgical aid almost without effect. He lingered till about half-past nine, when he died.

THE WAR IN EUROPE. European despatches received at the State Department at Washington, and by private parties, do not confirm the hopes of an immediate peace.—It is expected that France will be compelled to assume the character of a beligerent in place of a pacificator, and that Russia will be drawn into the contest on behalf of Austria.

What General Chamberlain Says:

All must unite in demanding security for the future. We must have guaranties good and sufficient against any future attempt to destroy this Government, whether in the exercise of a pretended right by open war or by MORE FATAL AND INSIDIOUS ASSAULTS against the principles on which this Nation was founded. These are points we cannot yield without danger and dishonor, and WHEN THE SOUTHERN STATES SHALL HAVE COMPLIED WITH THOSE CONDITIONS IN GOOD FAITH, they will be in a condition to ask association and fellowship with the loyal commonwealths of the country which they deserted with such violence and scorn. UNTIL THAT TIME, in my judgment it is wise to hold them in strict probation.

"We cannot go back to gather up the fragments of the Union as it was; we must now recognize the nation as it is, and make the Constitution what it should be."

ENGLAND'S POSITION.—We cannot believe (says the Providence Journal) that it is with entire tranquility of spirit that the English, who remember what an important part their country has heretofore played in deciding great continental questions, see themselves and their opinions utterly disregarded, while the sovereign of the rival nation across the channel is invited by England's old ally, Austria, to mediate between her and her opponents. What upon the continent asks or cares what England thinks or wishes? Has she accepted any more influence upon the war, or upon the negotiations which preceded the war, than Peru or Patagonia? When there is talk of an armistice, is she named as an arbitrator? It might be thought that if she is not disposed to take any part in the war, she is all the better fitted to act as umpire or mediator. But she is not mentioned. A proud people, like the English, with such traditions as theirs, cannot but feel this new isolation, this neglect, not to say contempt, of them by foreign powers, this sudden sinking in influence on European policy from a first rate to a third rate State.

Is it this painful sense of loneliness and decline that is prompting the English to look with more friendly eyes towards us? In default of friends on their side of the ocean, are they led to turn to us? Some of their public journals, which have berated us roundly during the war, are now full of good words about us. The article which the London Times published on the fourth of July has attracted a good deal of attention.

If the writer had prepared his article as an oration for the day, to be delivered in Providence or Boston, he could hardly have been more laudatory of us. He compares our nation to those men who are born to an inheritance of good fortune. He refers gratefully to the fine spirit we have lately shown in respect to Fenianism and other matters, and affirms that it must be the earnest wish alike of every American and of every Englishman, who understands the interests of the two countries, that the friendship of the two nations should be strong and enduring.

These are very fine words, (says the Journal) and we are ready to give a hearty response to them when England evinces some proper repentance for her action during our war. Let us have some tangible proof that her words mean something. Mr. Goldwin Smith, who urges her to cultivate intimate relations with us, suggests a good thing for her to do at the outset, namely, to open the question whether damages are not due us from her on account of the Alabama. When she has gone even so short a distance as that on the path of justice, we shall be more inclined to attach a high value to these smooth words of the English journals, which have so often maligned us.

CHINESE THUNDER.—The New York Times prints an alarming letter from Mr. Raymond.

We are assured (says the Tribune) that "the Philadelphia Convention is a source of panic to the Union party." We claim to know something of the Union party, and our knowledge indicates general contentment and resolution. The Philadelphia Convention excites curiosity; but as to panic, we have yet to hear of the first true Republican who has had a tremor. The Republican party spoke its mind very freely in the hundred newspapers from which we made extracts a few days since, and we have no recollection of any panic, or apprehension, or the slightest possible fear of the Philadelphia Convention. Mr. Raymond's panic is of his own creation—an air-drawn dagger that distresses his soul, and his only. He constructively censures the Convention in this letter—but yet he sees no harm in "consultation." What good, say we? Would he have us believe that the Johnson politicians are going all the way to Philadelphia merely to consult? Mr. Johnson himself does not think so; for we understand he expects great consolation from this Convention.—Mr. Seward does not think so; for he tells us in a letter that he means the Convention shall exercise a certain pressure upon Congress, and compel the admission of the rebel States upon their own terms.

But this Convention, according to Mr. Raymond, would never have been necessary had the Union party been true—and even now it is not "wise for the leaders of the Union party to ignore or underrate it." Here, then, we have the essence of Mr. Raymond's philosophy. The Union party is going to run because it will not obey him and those who have him in keeping—because it will not obey him and those who have him in keeping—because it will not gratify Mr. Johnson and Mr. Seward by deliberately surrendering to the spirit of slavery all that we had gained from the Slave Power—because it will not follow Mr. Raymond in a series of tergiversations which for rapidity and shamelessness have no parallel in modern political history, and which have occasioned for that gentleman the pitying contempt of every Republican—because it will not follow adventurers like Randall and Ishmaelites like Cowan, we are informed that the party is in the hands of traitors who mean civil war.

We can say to Mr. Raymond that the Union party is not to be frightened from its mission by going beating and Chinese thunder. We can imagine a timid, time-serving soldier, whose courage is none of the purest, in a position requiring calmness and bravery. "Let us run away; let us throw down our guns better than all, let us surrender, and have done with strife." This is Mr. Raymond's situation, and the meaning of his letter. He would surrender the Union party to President Johnson, and make Randall and Doolittle its keepers.

WASHINGTON, July 23, 1866.

Intelligence has been received here explaining the action of the Tennessee House of Representatives on the amendment to the Constitution. It appears that fifty-six constitutes a quorum of a full House. At the taking of the vote fifty-four answered to their names and two refused to respond. The Speaker therefore ruled that as no quorum had voted it was to be assumed that no quorum was present. An appeal was taken from this ruling and the House refused to sustain the decision, and entry was made on the journal that two members were present and refused to vote. The Speaker then made announcement that the joint resolution had passed. If, as now reported, he refuses to certify to this fact, he will be removed and some one will be put in his place who will give the proper certificate.

The question of paying for slaves mustered into the army during the latter half of the year 1864 in Kentucky and Maryland was finally settled this afternoon, so far as the Senate is concerned, by the adoption of a clause in the general appropriation bill, which declares that a maximum of $300 shall be paid by the Secretary of War, out of the commutation fund, for such men as were slaves of loyal men. The amount of this fund is nine million dollars, and it is believed that six million will pay all demands under this clause.

The House agreed to the Senate amendments to the Tennessee resolution this afternoon very promptly. The Democrats, of course, objected to the new preamble and insisted on a yea and nay vote upon the question of adopting it. They were gratified, and the preamble was carried by 92 to 26, the only Republicans voting against it being Raymond and ——, showing that the Union party is a unit for the measure.—[Sp. to Boston Adv.

APPLY AT ONCE. Wanted, two hundred delegates to attend the Johnson Convention at Faneuil Hall. Political antecedents of no consequence, as no questions will be asked. Persons who can show a democratic record throughout the war will be entitled to front seats. Open House will be kept for delegates from the rural districts, and those obliged to remain in the city over night will be furnished with tickets to see the Hanlons take their perilous leaps. The galleries will be reserved for those ladies who never scraped lint for the soldiers. Unsuccessful applicants for office who have been "shamefully treated" will be tempted by the most liberal offers; and officeholders who desire to hold on to their offices will be made officers of the Convention. No credentials will be required, and no Committee on Credentials will be appointed. The Committee on Promises receive suggestions. Arm chairs have been ordered for weak-kneed Republicans. Let all come who desire to unite in "making treason odious" by welcoming with open arms those victims of free speech who were driven from the councils of the nation by the accession of the Southern States; or by the votes of a self-styled "loyal," but misguided, constituency. Come one! come all!—[Boston Journal.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—A colored man was arrested in New Orleans the other day for having a gold watch. La Tribune says he was from Maine, which was the additional offence in the eyes of the magistrate. He was sent to the workhouse, under sentence to remain until an owner could be found for his watch! La Tribune thinks the civil rights law might reasonably be invoked in such cases, and we think so too.

—Messrs A. T. Stewart, Wm. B. Astor, C. Vanderbilt, and H. B. Claflin, four of New York's leading wealthy men, will return and pay together on ten millions of private income, exclusive of the taxes on the large mercantile business of two of these gentlemen. The same parties for 1864 paid not more than four millions.

—Peter Criner, while driving a reaper in Alhambra Ill., fell from the horse he was riding, when the reaper gathered him in its awful embrace, cutting him to pieces.

—A fine residence was recently purchased in Nashville for Gen. Thomas by his friends at an expense of $60,000; but the General declined the present, on the ground that he had enough to support himself and wife, (having no children), requesting that the money be added to the fund for Soldiers' Widows and Children.

—Carozzi-Succhi, the prima donna, found the revenue officer wanted her income tax on the $40,000 in gold she received last year. The tuneful Tuscan suddenly discovered that she had business in Europe, but was overhauled on shipboard. She paid the tax finally in a fine melodramatic gust of passion.

—From affidavits read in the case of Newkirk vs. the Russell File Company, it appears that the Company paid the sum of $500,000 for the secret of restoring old and worn-out files to new ones.

—A Paris watchmaker will contribute to the Paris Exhibition a perpetual motion pendulum which has been wagging for three years.

—The harvesting of the crops in the West has caused the bottom of the grain market in Chicago to drop out. Millers are grinding new wheat, and the delusion of a scarcity has completely vanished! Speculators have suffered severely.—[Com. Bulletin.

—The total distance bored of the Chicago lake tunnel is 10,560 feet, leaving 2,675 feet yet to be tunneled.

—Capt. Thomas Card, living at Dover Point, is now 95 years old. On the 4th inst he rowed his boat from the Point to Portsmouth, a distance of five or six miles, carrying some potatoes to market, which having been disposed of, he attended the celebration and rowed back in the afternoon. So says the Dover Enquirer.

—An artist-observer of the flight of the double-headed eagle assures that the House of Hapsburg will speedily adopt the designation of the House of Mishapsburg. Even the Nephew of his Uncle can't prevent it.

—An exchange says the "waters of the great political deep are breaking up." That may be; but such an event will only strew the shores with fragments of the "old Democratic ship."

A STRANGE MEETING. Among the stolen goods awaiting "recognition" at the Police Station is an old rubber shoe. Two days ago, after Officer Adams had returned from Bangor with a quantity of articles carried from the fire there, the mate to this shoe was found, and fully identified by the loser, who happened to be present. And thus, after many days of separation, a happy re-union of these two shoes was effected.—[Press.

Irresponsible Counterfeiters.

One of the most serious annoyances, which the proprietors of an article in unusual demand have to encounter is the piratical imitation of it by parties equally unscrupulous and irresponsible. If an individual of a firm with means engages in this nefarious business, the damages awarded by a court of justice for the offense are collectable, and it is some satisfaction to the party wronged that the wrongdoer is made to suffer; but in most cases the pirates are men of straw, who cannot respond in dollars to the law's award.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS being a Standard Tonic, marketable everywhere, and representing the value affixed to it as accurately as a National Bank bill represents the amount expressed on its face, has been extensively counterfeited and simulated. The proprietors have spent many thousand dollars in hunting up and hunting down irresponsible individuals and firms who have given their minds to this dirty work. These parties, some of them, at least—have a way of changing their base, though they never change their business. When an injunction is laid upon them in one part of the country they sometimes "vamose" to another and try the trick again. In some cases it is necessary to kill them two or three times over. Perhaps the best thing that can be done under these circumstances is to lay an injunction" upon all who use the Bitters to buy only of dealers whom they can trust. In every city, town and village of the United States and British America this famous tonic, alterative and protective medicine may be procured of reliable men of business.

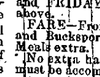
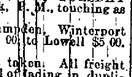
Piano Forte Tuning!





Read the following recommendation from CHICKERING & SONS, Boston, Mass.

To all whom it may Concern:—

This is to certify that I have this day graduated my faithful scholar E. Q. NORTON, in the full course of Piano Forte Tuning; and now needing encouragement from his friends to advance him still further, I willingly graduate him, recommend him to all holders and owners of Pianos, as fully understanding the art, (of which this) knowing he will be faithful to me, his teacher, as well as to himself. L. H. JOHNSON.

An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

Or WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The VERMIFUGE COMFITS, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect, with safety.

Internal Revenue!

COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,

FOURTH DISTRICT OF MAINE,

BANGOR, July 3, 1866.

In pursuance of Section 3 of the Act of Congress, entitled "An Act to provide Internal Revenue to support the Government, to pay interest on the public debt, and for other purposes, approved June 30, 1864, as amended by the Act of March 3, including sections relating to the collection of internal revenue from other Acts:"

I hereby give notice that I have received from GEORGE F. SEWALL, Esq., Assessor for the Fourth Collection District of the State of Maine, the annual list of Duties and Taxes assessed by him in the month of May, 1866.

That said Taxes and Duties have become due and payable, and that I will attend at my office, Exchange Block, in the City of Bangor, to receive the same, for the First Division of said District, from the tenth to the thirtieth days of July instant, inclusive.

That for the Second Division of said District, LEIGH R. GRAY, Esq., Deputy Collector in said Division, will attend at Dover on the 16th and each succeeding day of the month of July instant, to receive the Taxes and Duties assessed within said Division.

That for the Fourth Division, JOHN H. BRADFORD, Esq., Deputy Collector thereof, will attend in the County of Aroostook, at Houlton on the 16th and each succeeding day of July instant, to receive the Taxes and Duties assessed within the County of Aroostook.

And I further give notice that "all persons who shall neglect to pay the Duties and Taxes so aforesaid assessed upon them, to the Collector or his Deputies within the time specified, shall be liable to pay ten per centum additional upon the amount thereof;" and that the penalties when incurred will invariably be enforced agreeably to the provisions of the Act aforesaid and the special instructions of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

No further notice of the Annual List is required by Law than the foregoing; and all persons assessed are respectfully requested to govern themselves accordingly.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Mr. POLAND in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

THE MUTUAL

Life Insurance Co.,

OF NEW YORK.

Assets over $16,000,000!

TO meet the choice of such present or future members as may prefer to have the amount insured paid in instalments to their widows or heirs, rather than in one sum, this Company is prepared to insert in its policies a clause agreeing that in lieu of the payment of the policy and profits in one sum, an annuity for life shall be established by the Company, may be paid annually or semi-annually for any specified number of years, (say from five to twenty-five years,) if desired.

EXAMPLE.—Suppose a policy of $10,000, with additions amounting to $6000 more, should become payable by reason of the death of the person insured, the Company, in lieu of the payment of $16,000 in one sum, would be able to give (assuming interest as realized in the past) an annuity for ten years of over $2000 per annum; or for twenty years an annuity of over $1200 per annum.

This form of annuity will remove the anxiety which may exist in the minds of some policy-holders lest the future provision they have made for their families should be ineffectual or transitory in its duration, either through unsafe investments unwise expenditure, or other unfortunate incidental to contingent trusts.

It is not only free from the ordinary dangers of investment, but its punctual and full payment is secured by the LARGE AND SOLID CASH RESOURCES and good faith of this institution, which thus, to a certain extent, becomes the GUARDIAN or TRUSTEE of the survivors. Hence the provision may be considered, humanly speaking, beyond any adverse contingency.

All such deferred payments of annuities will share equitably in the profits or dividends of the Company.

This Company also issues SURVIVORSHIP ANNUITIES, which provide for survivors during the whole period of life, and DEFERRED ANNUITIES, by which individuals may provide for themselves in advanced age.

WASHINGTON, July 25.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs have reported a bill amending our neutrality laws, striking out some of the more stringent features and making it conform in some particulars to English statute on that subject.

The Senate to-day admitted Mr Fowler as a Senator from Tennessee.

Up to one o'clock no report had been made on the credentials of Judge Patterson, the President's son-in-law, Acting Private Secretary of the President.

Cooper took his seat in the House this morning as a member from the State of Tennessee.

The President has signed the bill to aid in the construction of telegraph lines, and to secure to the government the right of use for postal, military and other purposes.—This is in the nature of a general law.

He has also signed the bill reviving the grade of General in the United States army, and this afternoon nominated to the Senate Lt. Gen. Grant for that office and Vice Admiral Farragut to be Admiral in the navy under the recent law.

WASHINGTON, July 25.

The House concurred in Senate amendment to adjourn on Saturday.

A W Randall was confirmed by the Senate to-day as Postmaster General.

The nomination of Lt-Gen. Grant to be General of the army of the United States, and of Vice Admiral Farragut to be Admiral of the navy, were taken up by the Senate without the usual formality of a reference, and unanimously confirmed.

Among numerous confirmations to-day were G W Rogers, postmaster at Meriden, Conn, and John Knowlton, naval officer at Portsmouth, N H.

It is expected that printed copies of the internal revenue will be ready for distribution Monday.

Deputy Commissioner Harland will enter on his duties in the Internal Revenue Department to-morrow.

A schedule of articles exempt from internal tax after the 13th of July will soon be published.

Sergeant-at-arms Ordway was to-day presented with a silver plate by members of the House.

The report of the committee on the Memphis riot fully confirms all the previous reports of the horribly wanton outrages committed. Forty-six negroes were killed, seventy-five wounded, five colored women raped and ten maltreated. One hundred robberies were committed, 99 houses and cabins, four churches and 12 school houses were burned. The value of property destroyed is $130,000.

Nothing has transpired concerning peace negotiations.

Several French papers have received a government warning for publishing false news.

Sanguinary conflicts took place on the 14th between the Prussians and the Federals near Aschaffenburg. The former were entirely successful.

The town was in flames, and the Federals were retreating. The Prussians were marching on Frankfort, which town the Federal troops had evacuated, and the Diet removed to Augustenburg, where the foreign representatives were expected to assemble.

The headquarters of the Prussian army under the King, have been advanced to Brunn.

Iglau was reported to be in possession of the Prussians.

Cialdini had occupied Padua and Vicenza—towns on the line of the railroad to Vienna.

The Austrians in Venetia, except those in Venice, had no railway communications with Vienna, so that unless Cialdini be dislodged the Austrians cannot render aid in the impending battle with the Prussians.

The Times of the 16th says:

"Whatever forces the Austrians may have succeeded in gathering around Vienna, it is still doubtful whether it will itself be equal to the task of withstanding the victorious Prussians, who according to all calculations, should assemble before Vienna to-morrow or the day after. If anything were needed to render the Austrians' position hopeless, the tidings of the irreparable disaster at Aschaffenburg must have reached Vienna.

Pressed by a delegation from the Viennese municipality, asking the Emperor's pleasure in regard to the defence of Vienna, the Emperor at once removed the people's apprehensions by answering that Vienna would be treated as an open city, and added that he would limit his military operations to the defence of the line of the Danube, a plan which might bring the Austrian attack on Floridorf Village, two or three miles from the town gates, where the Austrians have an entrenched camp, as a "tete de pont."

Should the Prussians resolve to attack Vienna, they would certainly attempt to cross the river at several points, and, in case of success, the open city would unavoidably fall into their hands.

The state of discouragement into which the Austrian army has been thrown by severe losses in Bohemia (the Times believes) will deter the Emperor from a final encounter so close to his capital, and it trusts that before the Prussians will be ready for an outset, an interview between the two Monarchs will take place, which might have been more opportunely held on the morrow after the disaster at Koniggratz.

In the diplomatic circles of St. Petersburg, it was declared that Russia had no intention of abandoning its policy of neutrality, and that only in case of active intervention of foreign power in the German conflict would she make declarations and take up an attitude corresponding with her interests.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 25.

SENATE.

Mr Sherman called up the tariff bill lately passed by the House. It was amended in the following manner:

By striking from the 1st section the clause "and no tare for the box in which any cigars, cheroots or cigarettes, are packed, shall be allowed in ascertaining their weight"; by striking out the 9th section, which adds the cost of transportation in determining the dutiable value of articles; by striking out the 13th section, which establishes a bureau of statistics; and by inserting a new section authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to suspend collection of direct tax until Jan. 1, 1867.

E. G. Ross was sworn in as Senator from Kansas, vice Mr Lane.

Joseph S. Fowler, after presentation of his credentials, took his seat as Senator from Tennessee.

Twenty thousand copies of the annual agricultural report were ordered to be printed.

A joint resolution to adjourn Congress at noon on Saturday next, was passed.

The portrait of President Lincoln was accepted, by concurrence with a joint resolution of the House.

The general appropriation bill was taken up.

An amendment was adopted to pay the 1st Michigan Cavalry the cost of transportation home home after being mustered out.

$50,000 was appropriated for survey of Isthmus of Darien with a view of constructing a ship canal.

A committee of conference was appointed on the House army bill.

The Senate insisted on its amendment to tariff bill and agreed to a committee of conference.

Senate then went into executive session, after which a recess was taken until seven o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Bill passed regulating the weighing of exports.

The consideration of the civil appropriation bill was resumed.

A warm debate sprung up on the amendment to increase the salaries of certain employees of the Senate 25 per cent. It was lost—19 to 20.

The amendment increasing the pay of members of Congress was lost.

A similar amendment was then adopted, fixing the pay at $5000 per annum and the mileage at 20 cents per mile, commencing with the 39th Congress.

An amendment was adopted increasing the pay of the Senate employees 20 per cent.

The bill then passed.

Adjourned at one o'clock.

HOUSE.

Mr Rice of Mass., from the committee on naval affairs, reported back the House bill to prevent officers of the navy from being deprived of their regular promotion on account of wound received in battle, with amendments.

The amendments were agreed to, and the bill passed.

The bill authorizing the Secretary of War to ascertain the practicability of connecting Lake Ontario with the Susquehanna river by steamboat navigation was passed.

Mr Edmund Cooper appeared, was qualified, and took his seat as a member from Tennessee.

The bill defining the rights and immunities of citizens in all States, and providing for the protection of the same, was postponed until the second Tuesday in December.

John W Leftwick took the oath and seat as a member from Tennessee.

The bill regulating the appointment of clerks, &c., by U. S. Judges was passed.

The bill restoring to loyal owners the lands confiscated by rebel authorities was passed.

The bill amendatory of the national currency act was taken up.

The currency bill, after debate, was postponed until December.

Mr Banks reported from committee on foreign affairs a bill in reference to the neutrality laws. Ordered to be printed and its consideration postponed until to-morrow.

Messrs Raymond and Patterson made a minority report, recommending that a joint committee be appointed to report next session.

A conference committee was appointed on the army bill.

An order was passed to pay the Tennessee members their pay and mileage from March 4, 1865.

A conference committee was appointed on the tariff bill.

Resolution to finally adjourn on Saturday noon was passed.

The joint resolution extending the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims to loyal citizens of Tennessee was passed.

The Senate bill for payment of the public debt was reported from the committee on ways and means, and referred to committee of whole.

The House then went into committee of the whole. Nine bills were on the calender, of which five were passed over. The sixth was that of Mr Stevens, to enable the late rebel States to regain their privileges in the Union.

Pending a motion to lay it aside the House took a recess until 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Several District of Columbia bills were referred.

The report of the investigating committee on the Memphis riots was presented with testimony. After a sharp debate it was ordered to be printed—86 to 23.

Several Senate bills were acted on.

A joint resolution relative to settlement of accounts of W. P. Wingate, Collector of Bangor, Me., was referred to committee on ways and means.

Bill granting lands to aid Railroad from Missouri to the Pacific was pending when the House adjourned.

BANGOR THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY. The examination of the classes occupied the forenoon and afternoon of Tuesday and the forenoon of Wednesday.

On Tuesday evening occurred the Anniversary of the Rhetorical Society in Central Church, according to the following programme:

Organ Voluntary by Fred S. Davenport.

Prayer—Rev. R. C. Butterfield, Professor in Lincoln College, Topeka, Kansas.

Music.

A. Dorimus, Parsippany, N. J.—The Gospel we Receive.

F. E. Sturges, Augusta, Me.—The Speculative Spirit.

Music.

W. S. Kimball, Newburyport, Mass.—Singleness of Purpose.

A. F. Marsh, Montague, Mass.—Religious Liberty.

Music.

Benediction—Dr. Pond.

On Wednesday forenoon, Rev. Egbert G. Smyth, of Andover, Mass., delivered the annual sermon before the Alumni. Text: 1st Cor. 12: 6—16. In closing the preacher gave an appropriate and beautiful illustration of his theme, in the character, life and preaching of the late Dr. Dwight.

Services by Rev. Edward Hawes, of the Central Congregational Church, Philadelphia.

In the evening, Rev. James McCosh, LL. D., President of the Queen's University in Dublin, and author of many well known historical books, delivered an address before the Rhetorical Society, at Hammond Street Church. His theme was the tendency of religious thought.

Devotional exercises by Rev. John Pike, of Rowley, Mass.

Singing of two select pieces by the choir, Mr. Davenport, organist.

Thursday, July 26.

Exercises of the graduating class in Central Church, at 9 A. M. Address to the class by Rev. Dr. Hayes.

Charge by Rev. Dr. Pond.

Right hand of Fellowship—Rev. B. A. Rohte of Waterville.

Benediction by Rev. H. O. Thayer.

—Thanks to Penobscot River Express for late Boston papers.

—In Police Court, yesterday, Thomas Wall was up for unlawful sale of liquors.—He was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs. Appealed.

A ELEGANT TURNOUT. Mr. James Donahue of this city has just brought out one of the most elegant turnouts we have seen these many days. The barouche is a splendid one, of modern construction, and very elegant in all its appointments. It is drawn by two beautiful, fine-stepping bay horses with gold ornamented harnesses. There is nothing superior probably this side of Boston. The whole turnout cost $5000.—[Times.

VIEWS OF THE PORTLAND FIRE. It will be seen by advertisement that Sawyer proposes to give to the sufferers by the Portland Fire one half the proceeds of the sales of his fine stereoscopic views of the ruins for one week. He sells the views 28 of them at $3 per dozen or 25 cents each—a low price for such pictures.

—The Machias Union says that the dwelling-house and outbuildings, not including barn, of Moor Corshell, at East Addison, were entirely consumed by fire on the 17th inst.

JUMPED IT! John Smith at Sandy River in Jonesport is building a barn. July 14th the frame was boarded and ready for shingling the roof. July 15th, in the evening, a thunder shower passed over that region and by the effects of the electricity the entire frame was moved from its foundation about eight feet. The building was not injured except perhaps started at the joints a little.

RESTITUTION EXCRAORDINARY. Monday night John Sidney, who keeps in Fore street, was accosted by a man with a trunk on his back, who desired to leave the same with John for a while for safe keeping. John readily consented, but what was his surprise to discover shortly afterwards that it was the identical trunk well filled with his own clothing that had been stolen from him on the night of the great fire. This was funny enough, but soon after along came a woman enquiring if a man had been seen going past with a trunk. John replied in the affirmative, and exhibited the trunk in question, which the woman at once declared was her own and had been stolen from her by a "murtherin' haund." John clings to the trunk thus singularly returned to him.—[Press.

—A man at work on board the steamer John Brooks, lying at Sturdivant's wharf, found a wallet containing six thousand dollars in notes and bonds. The owner's name was found therein, and the property returned. The generous soul of its grateful owner rewarded the honest and humble finder with fifty cents, and his heart still expanding, the amount was increased to seventy-five cents. Such liberality should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.—[Argus.

—The Boston Journal says the amount subscribed in New York in aid of the people of Portland, up to last Wednesday, was $119,558. In addition the banks had subscribed $10,000 not then paid into the general fund. The Catholics are subscribing only for the benefit of those of that faith, under direction of Archbishop McCloskey. As there has been no distinction made as to the religious belief of the sufferers in distributing the money and property already subscribed, this discrimination has given very extensive dissatisfaction.

—The Argus learns that Mr. John Lindsay and a young man 17 years old, who had been working for the former, got into a dispute relative to the pay due the latter, which resulted in the young man throwing a stone which struck Mr. Lindsay in the head, crushing his skull. His life was for a time despaired of, but he is now much improved, and will probably recover. The young man was arrested and put under $500 bonds. The affray took place at Standish, at the "head of the canal," so called.

—The Calais Advertiser says the contribution in that city for Portland, has reached the handsome figure of $4000. In St. Stephen, across the river, our British cousins have raised over $2200 for the same purpose.

—The Skowhegan Clarion says about 80 gallons of liquor was seized at North New Portland by Deputy Sheriff J. D. Bartlett, under the direction of S. Burnham, Detective from the Custom House in Portland, on Tuesday last, 17th inst. The liquors were smuggled through from Canada by a man named Strickland.

—Up to Wednesday last the Mayor of Portland had acknowledged the receipt of the sum of $189,959.25, contributed to the relief fund. This amount does not include the many donations made for specific purposes and in favor of particular objects which in the aggregate has been very large. It is thought that the aggregate contributions throughout the country will not fall short of a million dollars. The amount raised in the cities of Boston and New York alone already exceed $200,000.

—Rev. Wm. H. Fenn was to be installed last evening as pastor of the High Street Church, Portland.

—An old gentleman, 74 years old, who, three weeks ago, was worth $40,000, now obtains his daily rations in a tin pail from the relief committee in Portland.

—The Saco Democrat says that a little son of Mr. O. H. McIntire, of Biddeford, fell from a load of stones, which his father was hauling, and the wheels passed over his chest before the team could be stopped, killing him instantly. He was about eight years of age.

THE SOMERVILLE MURDER. The Farmer has the following account from a correspondent of the tragical occurrence which took place on the 17th inst. at Somerville (formerly Patricktown Plantation) in Lincoln county, resulting in the death of an Irishman named George Erving and his wife, residents of the town for the past thirty-five years. It appears that soon after dinner Erving and his wife had a quarrel in regard to her visiting a sister living in the neighborhood. Erving forbade his wife going, and threatened to shoot her if she went.—Sheloft the house, however, and had gone but a short distance towards the road, when Erving, taking down his gun stepped to the door and told her to stop. As she turned towards him, begging him not to shoot her, he deliberately aimed and fired the gun, and the poor woman dropped instantly dead.—Reloading his gun he then turned to his daughter-in-law who had witnessed the fatal deed, and told her to ride to Windsor, a distance of three miles, and tell her husband, George Erving, what had occurred, and on the peril of her life not apprise any one else of the fate of her mother in-law—threatening to shoot any one who came to the house before his son's arrival. She obeyed his injunctions, and on the arrival of his son Erving was standing in the door. As soon as the son approached, the murderer walked into the house and immediately shot himself, causing instant death. Erving and his wife were about sixty-five years of age, and for some time had lived unhappily together.—From some writing, scrawled by him in charcoal upon the wall of the room where he died, it appears that jealousy was the cause of the tragical occurrence, but it is believed without any justifiable grounds for the injurious suspicion.

—The Press says that a man dead drunk, was found by the police on Saturday night, lying with his head on the track on Commercial street, and removed it just in season to escape being run over by the freight train backing up.

—The man Brainard, arrested in Penobscot county, last week, for larceny from the sufferers by the fire in this city, was brought before Judge Taylor, yesterday afternoon, on a writ of habeas corpus, procured by his counsel, Messrs. Holden & Peabody. The Judge ordered his discharge at 6 o'clock, P. M., at which time Marshal Heald caused him to be re-arrested on a second and similar charge.—[Press.

WILLIAMS BLOCK. The beautiful proportions of this noble block so sadly marred by the destructive fire of Sept. 17th, 1865, are again restored externally, and the lower part of the building will be finished about the first of August. The First National Bank have a neat and spacious banking room where the Post Office was previous to the fire, and the tenement directly south is to be occupied by Mr. Frank Milliken, with a choice stock of family groceries. Messrs. Safford & Son, hardware and iron dealers, will occupy the remaining store in this block. [Farmer.

PYLE'S O K SOAP, THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND. Made from choice materials, and similar in quality to the old English White Soap.—Becomes extremely hard and not liable to unnecessary waste while in use. Is good for every kind of washing, also for the bath and toilet. No other Soap is needed where the "O. K." is used. It has a growing popularity among the working classes, who from necessity, patronize the most economical articles. The multitudes who have so long patronized Pyle's Saleratus, Cream Tartar, and Soda, will find this Soap a still greater acquisition in household economy. Try it. Each pound is sufficiently rich in stock to make three gallons of good Soft Soap. For sale by all prominent grocers. JAMES PYLE Manufacturer, 360 Washington Street, cor. Franklin, N. Y.

THE MISER'S BEQUEST.

The hour hand of Philip Acres's silver watch was pointing to the figure eight; the snug red curtains shut out the raw and dark-ness of the March night, and the fire snapped and cracked in the little grate in a comfortable sort of a way, casting a rosy shine into the thoughtful brown eyes that were tracing castles and coronets in the burning coals.

Philip Acre was, for once, indulging himself in the dangerous fascinations of a day dream.

'If I were only rich!' he pondered.—'Ah, if! Then good-bye to all these musty old law books; good-bye to needed boots and thrice-turned coats; and all the ways and means that turn a man's life into a wretched bondage! Wouldn't I revel in new books and delicious paintings and high-stepping horses! Wouldn't I buy a set of jewels for Edith! not pale pearls or sickly emeralds, but diamonds, to blaze like tufts of fire upon her royal throat. Wouldn't I—what nonsense I'm talking, though,' he cried, suddenly arousing himself. 'Phil Acre, hold your confounded tongue. I did suppose you was a fellow of more sense. Here you are, neither rich nor distinguished, but a simple law student, While Ed'n Wyllis is as far above your moonstruck aspirations as the Queen of Night herself. She loves me, though—she will wait—and the time may one day come. If only Dr. Wyllis were not so distrustful of a fellow! However, I must learn to prove myself worthy of the sweetest prize that ever—Hallo! come in there, whoever you are!'

It was only the servant who handed him a letter.

'Now, then, let me see what my unknown correspondent has to say. A black seal, eh! Not having any relations to lose, I am not alarmed at the prognostic.'

He broke the seal and glanced leisurely over the short, business-like communication contained within, with a face that varied from incredulous surprise to sudden gladness.

'Am I dreaming?' he murmured to himself, rubbing his eyes and shaking himself, as if to insure complete possession of his senses. 'No, I'm wide awake and in my right mind; it is no delusion—no part of my waking visions. But who would ever suppose that old Theron Mortimer, whom I haven't seen since I was a boy of sixteen, and picked him out of the river half dead between cramp and fright, would die and leave me all his money. Why, I'm not even the shadow of a relation; but, then, I never heard that the old man had any kith or kin, so I cant imagine any harm in taking advantage of his odd freak. Rich—am I really to be rich! is my Aladdin vision to be an actual fact? Oh! Edith, Edith!'

He clasped both hands over his eyes, sick and giddy with the thought that the lovely, far-off star of his adoration would be brought near to him at last by the magnet Gold. All those years of patient waiting were to be bridged over by the strange old miser's bequest; he might claim Edith now!

How full of heart-sunshine were the weeks that flitted over the head of the accepted lover, brightened by Edith's smile, and made beautiful by the soft radiance of Edith's love. There was only one alloying shadow—the almost imperceptible touch of distrust and suspicion with which old Dr. Wyllis regarded his future son-in-law. Ah! he feared to trust his only child to the keeping of any man who had not been proved in the fiery furnace of trial!

It was precisely a week before the day of the wedding, and the soft lights, veiled by shades of ground glass, were just lighted in Dr. Wyllis's drawing room, where Edith sat among her white roses and heliotrope, working on a bit of cambric ruffling, and singing to herself. She was a slender, beautiful girl, with violet gray eyes, a blue-veined forehead, and glossy abundant curls of that pale gold that old painters love to portray.

'I wonder if Mortimer Place is so very lovely,' she said to a silver-haired lady who sat opposite. 'Philip is going to take me there when we return from our wedding tour, aunty. He says it is the sweetest place a poet's fancy could devise with fountains and shrubberies, and greedy deli cious copses. Oh! shall we not be happy there!'

She started up with a bright, sudden blush for, even while the words trembled on her lips, Philip Acre came into the room, his handsome face looking a little troubled, yet cheerful withal. Mrs. Wyllis, with an arch nod at her neice, went into the conservatory leaving the lovers to themselves.

'For are looking, grave, Philip,' Edith said, as he bent over and kissed her cheek.

'And I am feeling so, darling. I have a very unpleasant disclosure to make to night—our marriage must be indefinitely postponed.'

'Philip! for what reason?'

'To enable me, by diligent labor at my profession, to realize sufficient means to support you, dearest, in a manner satisfactory to your father's expectations and my own wishes.'

But, Philip, I thought—'

'You thought me the heir of Theron Mortimer's wealth. So I was, Edith, a few hours since, but I have relinquished all claim to it now. When I accepted the bequest, I was under the impression that no living heir existed. I learned to-day that a distant cousin—a woman—is alive, although my lawyer tells me, in ignorance of her relationship to Theron Mortimer. Of course, I shall transfer the property to her immediately.'

'But, Philip, the will made it legally yours.'

'Legally, it has. But Edith, could I reconcile it to my ideas of truth and honor to avail myself of Mortimer's fanciful freak at this woman's expense? I might take the hoarded wealth, but I should never respect myself again. Could I dream of legally defrauding the rightful heir? Nay, dearest, I may lose name and wealth, but I would rather die than suffer a single stain on my honor as a Christian gentleman!'

'You have done right, Philip,' said Edith with sparkling eyes. 'We will wait, and hope on, happy in loving one another more dearly than ever. But who is she? what is her name?'

'That's just what I didn't stop to enquire. I will write again to my lawyer to ask these questions, and to direct that a deed of conveyance be instantly made out, and then, darling—'

His lips quivered a moment—yet he manfully completed the bitter sentence—

'Then I will begin the battle of life over again.'

And Edith's loving eyes told him what she thought of his noble self-abnegation—a sweet testimonial.

'Ahem' said Dr. Wyllis, polishing his eyeglasses with a crimson pocket handkerchief; 'I didn't suppose the young fellow had so much stamina about him. A very honorable thing to do. Edith, I have never felt certain about Philip Acre's being worthy of you before—'

'But my mind is made up now. When is he coming again?'

'This evening, sir,' faltered Edith, the violet eyes softly drooping.

'Tell him, Edith, that he may have you on Wednesday, just the same as ever, and as for the law-practicing—why, there's time enough for that after wards. My child, don't strangle me with your kisses—keep them for Philip.'

He looked after his daughter with eyes that were strangely dim.

'Tried—and not found wanting,' he muttered indistinctly.

The perfume of orange blossoms had died away, the glimmer of pearls and satin was hidden in caskets and traveling trunks, and Mr. and Mrs Acre, old married people of full a week's duration, were driven along the shores of the Hudson in the amber glow of a glorious June sunset.

'Hallo! which way is Thomas going?' said Philip, leaning from the window, as the carriage turned out of the shore road.

'I told him the direction to take, Philip,' said Edith, with bright, sparkling eyes. 'Let me have my own way, just for once. We are going to our new home.'

'Are we?' said Philip, with a comical grimace. 'It is to be a love in a cottage, I suppose?'

'Wait until you see, sir' said Mrs Acre, pursing up her little rosebud dutecously.

'And Philip waited dutecously.

'Where are we?' he asked, in astonishment when the carriage drew up in front of a stately pillered portico which seemed not entirely unfamiliar to him. 'Surely, this is Mortimer Place!'

'I shouldn't be surprised if it was!' said Mr. Wyllis, emerging from the doorway. 'Walk in, my boy! Come, Edith. Well, how do you like the looks of your new home?'

'Our new home?' repeated Philip. 'I do not understand you, sir.'

'Why, I mean that your little wife yonder is the sole surviving relative of Theron Mortimer, although she never knew it until this morning. Her mother was old Mortimer's cousin, but some absurd quarrel had caused a total cessation of intercourse between the two branches of the family. I was aware of the facts all along, but I was not sorry to avail myself of the opportunity of seeing what kind of stuff you were made of Philip Acre! And now, as the deed of conveyance isn't made out yet I suppose your lawyer need not concern himself about it. The heiress won't quarrel with you, I'll be bound! Philip Acre's cheek flushed, and then grew pale with strong, hidden emotion as he looked at his fair wife standing beside him while the sunset turned her bright hair to coils of shining gold, and thought how unerringly the hand of providence had straightened out the tangled web of his destiny. Out of the darkness had come light!

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER. INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS CATARRH OF THE BLADDER.

STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips. A teaspoonful a day of the Constitution Water will relieve you like magic.

PHYSICIANS

Have long since given up the use of buchu, cubebs and juniper in the treatment of these diseases, and only use them for the want of a better remedy.

CONSTITUTION WATER

Has proved itself equal to the task that has devolved upon it.

DIURETICS

Irritate and drench the kidneys, and by constant use soon lead to chronic degeneration and confirmed disease.

We present the Constitution Water to the public with the conviction that it has no equal in relieving the class of diseases for which it has been found so eminently successful in curing; and we trust that we shall be rewarded for our efforts in placing so valuable a remedy in a form to meet the requirements of patient and physician.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Jan 20, 1866.

DR. GREGG:

Dear Sir.—I wish to inform you that I have been under the treatment of some of our best physicians for nearly two years, without receiving any benefit. I had lost all confidence, and I indulged in but little hope of a cure from any source. My disease was Dropsy, and my physicians told me that there was no cure for me. I was tapped some fifty times, and at the different operations about 1200 pounds of water was removed.

I am happy to inform you that I have been completely restored to health by the use of Constitution Water.

I make this statement hoping it may reach those persons who may be similarly afflicted.

Respectfully,

MRS. MARGILL C. LEVANWAY.

IN DYSMENORRHŒA, OR PAINFUL MENSTRUATION AND MENORRHAGIA, OR PROFUSE FLOWING.

Both diseases arising from a faulty secretion of the menstrual fluid—in one case being too little and accompanied by severe pain, and the other a too profuse secretion, which will be speedily cured by the Constitution Water.

That disease known as FALLING OF THE WOMB, which is the result of a relaxation of the ligaments of that organ, and is known by a sense of heaviness and dragging pains in the back and sides and at times accompanied by sharp, lancinating or shooting pains through the parts, will, in all cases, be removed by the medicine.

There is another class of symptoms arising from IRRITATION OF THE WOMB, which physicians call Nervousness, which word covers up much ignorance and in nine cases out of ten the doctor does not really know whether the symptoms are the disease, or the disease the symptoms. We can only enumerate them here. I speak more particularly of Cold Feet, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Memory, Wakefulness, Flashes of Heat, Languor, Lassitude, and Dimness of Vision.

READ! READ!! READ!!!

DANTILLER, Pa., June, 1862.—Dr. William H. Gregg—Dear Sir.—In February, 1861, I was afflicted with sugar diabetes, and for five months I passed more than two gallons of water in twenty-four hours. I was obliged to get up as often as ten or twelve times during the night, and in five months I lost about fifty pounds in weight. During the month of July, 1861, I procured two bottles of Constitution Water, and in two days after using it I experienced relief, and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured soon after regaining my usual good health.

Yours truly, J. V. L. DE WITT.

BOSTON CORNERS, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1861.—Wm. H Gregg & Co.—Gents.—I freely give you liberty to make use of the following certificate of the value of the Constitution Water, which I can recommend in the highest manner:—My wife was attacked with pain in the shoulders, whole length of the back, and in her limbs, with palpitation of the heart and irritation of the bladder. I called a physician, who attended her about three months, when he left her worse than he found her. I then employed one of the best physicians I could find, who attended her for about nine months, and while she was under his care she did not suffer quite as much pain. He finally gave her up, and said "her case was incurable. For," said he, "she has such a combination of complaints that medicine given for one operates against some other of her difficulties." About this time she commenced to use the Constitution Water, and to our utter astonishment, almost the first dose seemed to have the desired effect, and she kept on improving rapidly under its treatment, and now superintends entirely her domestic affairs. She has not taken any of the Constitution Water for about four weeks, and we are happy to say that it has produced a permanent cure.

WM. M. VAN BEUSCHOTEN.

WEATHERSFIELD, Conn., March 2, 1863.—Dr. W. H. Gregg.—Dear Sir.—Having seen your advertisement of "Constitution Water," recommended for Inflammation of the Kidneys and Irritation of the Bladder, having suffered for the past three years, and tried the skill of a number of physicians with only temporary relief, I was induced to try your medicine. I procured one bottle of your agents at Hartford, Messrs. Lee, Sisson & Co., and when I had used half of it, to my surprise, I found a great change in my health. I have used two bottles of it and am what I never expected to be in my life, well, and in good spirits. I cannot express my gratitude for it. I feel that it is all and more than you recommended it to be. May the blessing of God ever attend you in your labors of love.

Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.

No. 78 State Street, (opposite Kilby street,) Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of intentions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS; every one of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
